My friend Michael Jamison has created a new website for his Christian songs. Michael preaches the Word of God on the streets, and writes and records his own Christian songs, which he records on CD and gives to people free of charge. I uploaded a few of his songs for you to listen to last year, some of my favourites are "Beautiful Jesus", "Woe is me" and "The sign". He has created a new website, where he has uploaded many of his songs for the encouragement of believers, and to help spread the gospel through music. You can visit his website here.
