During these end days there seems to be a lot of heartache and destruction. I thought I would post about this article to give encouragement and happiness to other's lives. I found it joyous that people are willing to pray in public and I even found it remarkable that one of our major news sources were willing to publish this.

Please read this article.