US Customs and Border Protection bought half a million dollars worth of location data