"For to me, to live is Christ, and to die is gain." - Philippians 1 V21

"But what things were gain to me, these I have counted loss for Christ." - Philippians 3 V7

Surely we all have priorities in our life and we all have a very busy life-style but for a Christian, that which was true 2000 years ago, the same is true today. And that is, Christ should be our first priority and the focal point of our life. Dear friend, all that we toil for on earth will perish one day, but that which will not perish is the work we do for Christ. We should be as passionate for the work of Christ as for any other important work that we do. We know that after we die as Christians, we will live with God and Christ and all that will matter then is our relationship with Jesus Christ our Lord. Are you willing to say today, "For to me, to live is Christ, and to die is gain."

"And behold, I am coming quickly, and My reward is with Me, to give to every one according to his work." - Jesus Christ
